

GENERAL CONDITIONS OF PURCHASE

SMS Concast AG

1. Order and Acceptance of Order

Orders and agreements shall only be binding when they are placed/concluded or confirmed by us in writing. The acceptance of orders shall be acknowledged to us in writing immediately after receipt thereof. The Contractor's terms and conditions contrary to or deviating from our conditions of purchase are not accepted by us unless these conditions had been recognized by us in writing in individual cases.

The execution of our order shall mean recognition of our conditions. If, in exceptional cases, prices have not been agreed previously, they shall be definitely quoted in the acknowledgement of order. Our right to opposition and cancellation shall remain reserved.

2. Prices

The agreed prices are firm and are based on FCA delivery terms according INCOTERMS. Any price changes must be accepted by Concast AG in writing. We reserve the right to acknowledge increased or short deliveries.

3. Trade terms

For the interpretation of the trade terms, the INCOTERMS shall be applied in the version valid at the time of conclusion of the Contract.

4. Environmental and Accident Regulations

The Contractor shall be obliged to make any and all provisions required for the protection of the environment and against accidents as far as the subject of supply is concerned and to take any and all official and legal requirements into account. We shall be entitled to demand a certificate of the competent professional association stating that all accident prevention regulations have been met.

5. Subject of Supply

The subject of supply shall be appropriate for the purpose of use and conform to the latest state of the art. If standards are existing for the subject of supply and/or for any components thereof, these standards have to be observed in the following ranking order:

- SMS Group (Siemag) works standards (SN) and manufacturing instructions (SN 200), ISO, IEC, EN, DIN, VDE as well as technical instructions of other authorities,
- Accident prevention regulations,
- Law on technical working materials (tool safety law),
- DIN EN 292 and DIN EN 294 for safety of machines.

If, in any individual cases, any deviations from a standard or from the ranking order stated are necessary, the Contractor shall invite our consent in writing. The warranty obligations of the Contractor will not be affected by our consent.

The fundamental safety and health requirements shall be met for the design and construction of machines as specified in the ruling EC-Directives and EC-Standards.

Any and all documentation, explanations, tests and identifications required according to these guidelines are likewise the subject of the supply extent.

6. Inspection and Testing; Audit

Concast AG and any third party authorised by Concast AG shall be entitled to inspect and test the scope of supply or portions thereof at any reasonable time (including within a reasonable time after delivery of the goods at the ultimate destination or after completion of the services) to assess the quality of the goods and services and their conformity with the Purchase Order.

The Supplier shall give at least ten (10) working days' advance notice in writing of tests and Concast AG and any third party authorised by Concast AG shall be entitled to attend the tests. The Supplier shall provide Concast AG with such test certificates and other test documentation as Concast AG may reasonably require.

The goods shall not be dispatched to Concast AG without an inspection and release by Concast AG, unless Concast AG waives such inspection and release. If the Purchase Order includes the carrying out of tests on the goods after their receipt by Concast AG, then the scope of supply shall not be deemed complete until such tests have been passed to the satisfaction of Concast AG.

Inspection and testing in accordance with this clause shall not relieve the Supplier of any liability nor imply Concast AG's acceptance of the scope of supply. Concast AG shall be entitled to audit all relevant records of the Supplier and to carry out reasonable inspections of Supplier's premises to confirm compliance with the Purchase Order.

All costs for such inspection, with the exception of expenses for Concast AG's personnel, are for the account of the Supplier.

7. Delivery Dates and Delay

Part-deliveries and/or deliveries effected prior to the agreed date are subject to our prior consent. Extra costs incurred through any advance shipment or part-delivery such as freight etc. shall be borne by the Contractor unless these deliveries have expressly been desired by us and we have expressly declared our readiness to take over such costs.

If the Contractor realizes that he will not be able to meet a delivery date he shall be obliged to inform us in writing without delay. The notification shall include Supplier's proposal for acceleration of the progress to achieve the delivery date(s) or, as applicable, the date of completion of the Scope of Supply on time. Concast AG may require that the accelerated delivery includes airfreight. Unless the delay is the fault of Concast AG the cost of the acceleration measures including transportation by airplane shall be borne by the Supplier. If Supplier fails to deliver the goods or complete the services as scheduled, Concast AG may for the delay period apply liquidated damages (if any) at a rate and up to a maximum amount as specified in the Contract.

If the delivery of all or any portion of documentation is delayed beyond the respective delivery date, Concast AG may for the delay period apply liquidated damages (if any) at a rate per document per calendar day and up to a maximum amount as specified in the Purchase Order.

The parties agree that such rates and maximum amounts are reasonable pre-estimates, at the time of signing the Purchase Order of the damages Concast AG is likely to suffer as a result of the delay and are liquidated damages and not a penalty. If no liquidated damages have been agreed, Concast AG shall be entitled to recover actual damages it incurs as a result of Supplier's delay.

The agreed delivery date will be binding, apart from Force Majeure (revolution, war, environmental catastrophe, epidemic and trade embargo). If the Supplier realises that he will be unable to adhere to the fixed delivery date due to Force Majeure, he is obliged to notify Concast AG immediately thereof.

In case the delivery is delayed due to the Supplier's fault he is obliged to pay Concast AG liquidated damages for late delivery of 1% per each week of delay up to maximum 10% of the total Purchase Order value if not otherwise stated in the Purchase Order.

Payment of liquidated damages for late delivery does not remove the obligations to supply according to the terms of the Purchase Order.

In case the Supplier does not deliver the goods even within the agreed extension period, Concast AG is entitled, to immediately cancel the Purchase Order and to claim from the Supplier any damage exceeding the amount of liquidated damages for late delivery.

In case the delay caused by Force Majeure lasts longer than 4 weeks, Concast AG has the right, without setting an extension, to immediately cancel the Purchase Order. In such a case neither party can claim any damage.

8. Shipment

Unless agreed otherwise in individual contracts, the Contractor shall bear the wage and material costs incurred for loading and shipping documents as well as for standard packing as per the pricing stated under item 3. The weights shall be stated in the shipping notes for all consignments. In the case of delivery on call or in the case of interim storage upon our request, care shall be taken to ensure proper storage and adequate insurance.

Such consent shall not have any effect on his obligation to subsequently fulfill his contractual obligations. The Contractor shall undertake to use environmentally beneficial products and processes for his supplies/services and also in the case of sub-supplies or additional services by third parties within the framework of the economical and technical possibilities. The Contractor shall be liable for the products supplied and the packing materials used to be compatible with the environment as well as for all consequential damages caused by the infringement of his legal obligations of disposal. The Contractor shall issue, upon our request, a certificate of procurement for the goods supplied.

If the subject of supply is defective/deficient, the Contractor undertakes to immediately eliminate this defect/ deficiency at his expense, including all incidental costs, at our option either by repair or replacement of the defective/deficient parts. In addition, we shall be entitled to any other remedies provided by law.

Should the Contractor fail to comply with his guarantee obligations within a reasonable period of time determined by us we shall be entitled to take the necessary measures at his expense and risk without prejudice to his guarantee obligations, or have them taken by third parties. In urgent cases and after agreement reached with the Contractor we shall have the right to do the mending ourselves or have it done by third parties. Minor deficiencies/defects can be eliminated by us without prior agreement in the interest of an undisturbed production, and the costs in this respect charged to the Contractor without thereby affecting his guarantee obligations. The same applies if exceptionally high damages have to be feared.

Unless stipulated otherwise in individual contracts, the obligation to subsequently perform our contractual obligations expires 24 months after acceptance by us of the subject supplied or after transfer thereof to a third party named by us in the place of receipt and/or use that we have described.

10. Protective Rights of Third Parties

The Contractor shall take the responsibility that the supply and use of the subject supplied do not infringe the protective rights of third parties, especially patents, registered patterns, patent and competition rights and shall release the purchaser from all justified claims raised by third parties.

They may not be used for other purposes – e. g. supply to third parties - than those stipulated in the Contract. The Contractor shall store them for us at his cost with due diligence during the execution of the Contract.

Care, maintenance and partial replacement are subject to the agreements made between us and the Contractor.

We reserve all rights of drawings or products made according to our data as well as of procedures developed by us.

12. Secrecy

All documents made available to the Contractor by us in connection with the order, regardless of the type and origin, must be kept strictly confidential by the Contractor. They may not be published, reproduced or made available to third parties without our written consent nor may they be used for another purpose than in connection with the order. Publication of excerpts is also prohibited. The Contractor is without limitation liable for damages caused to us owing to a violation of this obligation.

13. Force Majeure

Cases of force majeure are those circumstances which have occurred after the conclusion of the contract as a result of unpredictable events of an unusual nature beyond the contracting party's control, for example, natural catastrophes, war etc. The contracting party who was unable to fulfill the contractual obligations must upon occurrence and termination of the aforementioned circumstances inform the other party forthwith in writing thereof and submit proof of the fact that these circumstances considerably influenced the implementation of the delivery. The moment the impediment no longer applies, the effected party is obliged to inform the other party of its elimination and to continue with the contract implementation.
